

Amendments to the Specification:

The Applicants points out to the Examining Attorney that the previous amendment to the specification was a correction of a typographical, which is also obvious from the remaining text, adding the term "not" to make it clear that it is not desirable to so expose the parts.